

Optimal stopping problems with Lévy processes

Cláudia Nunes¹,

¹ IST and CEMAT

In this talk I will show some examples of optimal stopping problems related with economic applications where the underlying uncertainty is a Lévy process. The applications are coming mostly from problems related with investment in innovative technologies.

I will start by a brief recall of results related with Lévy processes, followed by the presentation of optimal stopping problems, and then I will illustrate with several examples.